Center for the Studies of Higher Education

2000-2001

Nagoya University

History

The Center for the Studies of Higher Education (CSHE) was established on April 9th 1998 with special focus upon the conduct of research and development for quality assurance in undergraduate and postgraduate education.

Mission

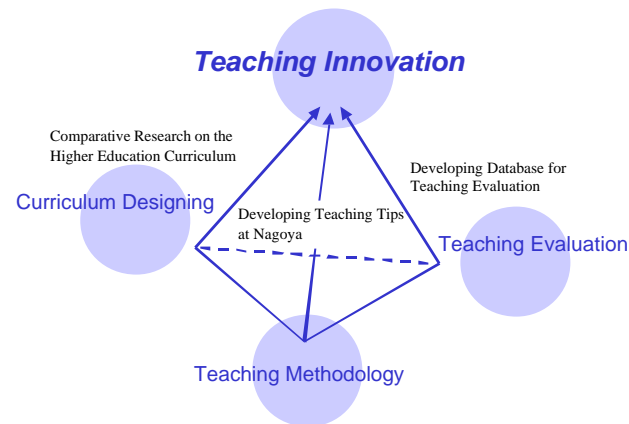

The purpose of The Center for the Studies in Higher Education is to contribute quality improvement of higher education by conducting research and studies on higher education associated with teaching and research activities at undergraduate and graduate levels in cooperation with researchers in Japan and in other countries.

Main Goals

- Developing a grand design of undergraduate education at Nagoya University for the 21st century.
- Developing research and investigation of postgraduate education for its improvement at Nagoya University.
- Developing a regional base for higher education reform including building linkages with other universities and institutions in society-at-large.
- Developing a global network of international centers for the study of higher education through Information Technology.

Current Projects

Research projects are conducted as joint studies with colleagues both within and outside Nagoya University for periods of two-three years duration. The products of this research are disseminated widely through publications, seminars and conferences in Japan and abroad.

Performance

◆ Teaching Tips at Nagoya

“Teaching Tips at Nagoya” (Online Edition) has launched in March 2000. The purpose of these Tips is to accumulate useful ideas and provide some solutions for various problems that teachers at Nagoya University encounter in teaching activities.
